

These photos demonstrate the technique for taking digital measurements directly from the jobsite to the CNC machine without making any type of physical template.

For companies who don't yet use CNC technology, a vinyl template can be cut from the CAD file that is developed from the photographed data.

Notice how perfectly the doorway arch is matched.

Photos courtesy of Thomas & Milliken Millwork, Inc.

